

From The Sundance Film Festival Accessibility Team

Inclusion is a core value at Sundance Institute, and we are deeply committed to serving artists and audiences from all communities through all of our programs. We want to ensure all events and elements are accessible for everyone who attends.

Our Accessibility and Disability Liaison, Laura Benge, collaborates with our internal teams to maximize the accessibility of our programs for everyone who attends. Laura may assist you or your team members with:

1. Questions around what to expect with the accessibility in Sundance Hosted venues
2. Implementing accommodation(s) or support in identifying potential accommodation(s) that may make your experience more comfortable
3. Information around ease of access and belonging at the Festival

It is important to us that you and your team have a comfortable experience and we encourage you to consider accommodations that could achieve that. These accommodations may include but are not limited to environmental, social, communication, assistive technology, etc. Our team takes care to understand individual preferences to curate accommodations to the highest quality possible within our time and resources.

If you or your team is considering an accommodation request during your time at the Festival, your Artist Relations Liaison/Public Relations Liaison will set up an introduction email thread with Laura and will schedule a meet and greet as soon as possible.

Accessibility is an ongoing commitment and we encourage your feedback so that we can continue to improve our services and create the most accessible experience possible.

Lastly, we want your experience in Utah to be as enjoyable as possible, as a courtesy we've included a few links below to help experience the great cities of Salt Lake City and Park City in an accessible way.

Thank you,
The Sundance Film Festival Accessibility Team
